The Ginger has been cut down to the quick, and the knife is still at work. Come and see for yourself. Who? Why? CLARKE BROS. After the Chinese Treaty was ratified Gen. Grant was hastily summoned to the palace of the late Emperor of China. He found the Emperor in bed, and the Empress sitting by his side. The Emperor was evidently very ill. He turned to Gen. Grant and said: "Gen. Grant, I am very sick. Can you help me?" "Why," said Gen. Grant, "I am not a doctor, but I have a friend who is, and I will send him to you." The Emperor turned to the Empress and said: "Send for Clarke Bros. and tell them to bring me five dollars' worth of Ginger." The Empress sent for Clarke Bros., and they came and brought the Ginger. The Emperor took it and got well. Moral: Buy your Dry Goods from Clarke Bros.

Napanee Beaver.

SATURDAY, JULY 31, 1880.

Some of the South African native rulers, despairing of success in shaking off the yoke of British rule, have taken a very novel plan of spiting their oppressors by the adoption of a little "national policy," as it were. A large company, with a capital of $650,000, has been formed for the purpose of preventing the importation of English manufactures, and promoting the purchase of goods from America and other countries. They have evidently come to the conclusion that Great Britain only maintains a hold upon their country for what can be made out of the people by her tradesmen and speculators, and that if they destroy the trade between the two countries, this all-powerful interest will be removed, and then it is hoped that the close-fisted Englishman will be only too glad to abandon what has already proven a very expensive connection. The natives have for years been vainly striving to drive out the Britishers by pricking their skin, they will now try a new tack, and see what they can do by touching the pocket. King Cetewayo in his captivity has evidently been devoting his leisure moments to the study of civilized human nature, and have discovered the Englishman's weak point.

The home government has lately been engaged in considering the establishment of defences for the Dominion of Canada and Australia, and it is thought that a scheme will soon be set afoot with this object. One of the measures proposed is the establishment of flotilla of small armed vessels for each colony. One of the difficulties in the way is the question as to who is to bear the expense. There are very many in this country who will seriously object to being foisted upon us the system which prevails in Europe of keeping up a standing army to eat up the earnings of the working portion of community. We are a young country that can ill afford to indulge in any such luxuries, and as we are disposed to live peaceably with our neighbors, we confess we can see little necessity for maintaining a large armed force of idlers in our midst, to eat up the hard earnings of our people.

The medical fraternity throughout the world has at last become interested in Dr. Tanner's wonderful fasting feat. When the doctor stated that he had once before succeeded in going without other food than air and water for a period of forty days, he was scoffed at, and when he replied by offering to repeat the operation, he could scarcely get sufficient interest awakened among the medical men of New York to have a deputation appointed to watch him during the ordeal. He has now passed thirty of the forty days which he allotted himself, consuming only a few ounces of water each day, which is carefully administered by a deputation of disinterested medical men. Before undertaking the feat he weighed 160 pounds, and has reduced gradually in weight at the rate of one pound per day, until he now weighs about 130. During the first few days of his fast he experienced all the pangs of starvation, but the craving for food has long since left him, and he has now no demands of appetite which must be satisfied. He has apartments in a public hall in the city, where visitors are admitted by paying a fee of 25 cents; he takes but little exercise, simply indulging in a drive to the park once a day to receive the benefit of pure air. The Dr. has always maintained that there is sufficient substance in pure air and water to sustain life for a lengthened period, if a person had only sufficient will-power to undergo the cravings of hunger for the first eight or ten days, and it is to prove the correctness of his theory that he is submitting himself to the present ordeal. He attributes his success entirely to the exertion of a superior will-power. The medical men in attendance report that to all appearances Dr. Tanner is in a perfectly healthy condition, and beyond his emaciated looks there is little indication of the wonderful ordeal through which he is passing, and barring unforeseen emergencies, it is generally believed that he will survive the full forty days fast, and recover without any ill effects. The principal perceptible effect of this fast upon the Dr. is the irritableness displayed by him on very trivial circumstances, and many amusing anecdotes are going the rounds. The other day a prominent lady of the city, during a visit to the Dr. was bantering him about eating an apple, when, with anything but gentlemanly humor, he replied he "would not eat an apple, even if it were presented by a lady." His fast has awakened a deep interest, and telegraphic reports of his condition are constantly furnished to every part of the world.

FOURTH RIDING NEWS.

FORREST MILLS.

After a whole week, spent in recuperating, your old bird returns to business with renewed vigor, and has such a grist of local news, that your readers will unanimously agree that the vacation has been an advantage.

The people, however, have felt very lonely without their weekly budget furnished by THE BEAVER.

On Sunday, the 18th inst., an old fashioned field meeting was held in a grove on Mr. James Windover's place. Rev. A. Sharts preached in the forenoon, and Rev. Mr. Terwilliger in the evening. There was a very large attendance from every neighborhood in this section, and the best of order prevailed. The location is very pleasant and convenient, which draws a great many people out who would not otherwise attend divine service. Services will be held in the same place on Sabbath next at 2:30 P. M.

I am requested to announce that Rev. A. Sharts and Rev. H. Williams purpose inaugurating a camp meeting on Unger's Island, on the 12th August, to be continued ten days. I suppose your "local" quill driver will give all the particulars through THE BEAVER.

My first flight this week was taken through the eastern part of Richmond, via Selby. I called upon Mr. Henry Vankoughnett, and was escorted through his garden, which shows evidence of thorough cultivation. He has a piece of timothy, the seed of which was sown last harvest, which is the stoutest I have seen this year.

I next paid a visit of inspection to the mammoth barn lately erected by Messrs. Henry and Robert Martin, upon their farm, in the 5th concession of Richmond. With the exception of Mr. Benj. Detlor's, at Erinsville, I think it is the largest and most conveniently arranged barn in the township. It was built by Mr. Archibald McNeil and Mr. Warren Hunt, and is certainly creditable to their mechanical skill. Cost, $1,100. Both Queen and I fared sumptuously during our stay, and I was favored with an application for insurance and an order for THE BEAVER. There is rumor going around that there is a new partner to be taken into the firm at no distant date. G. C's. congratulations are all prepared.

NEWBURGH.

When I reached this thriving village I put up with my friend McLaughlin, where I met Mr. Finch, of Camden, who informed me of a very curious circumstance, that transpired in his neighborhood lately. About 10 months ago some person unknown left a buggy, worth about $100, standing by the roadside near McFaney's gate, taking one wheel with him. The neighbors look upon the vehicle with considerable suspicion, and there is evidently something wrong.

DORLAND.

On my arrival here on the 20th with Her Majesty's mail, my ears were greeted with strange but sweet tones, that came floating along the breeze like the strains from an Æolian harp. On approaching, I found that Mr. Jas. Armstrong and his son were entertaining the villagers with some selections on the cornet. Mr. A. has lately returned from Missouri, and from several newspapers published in that section, I glean that his abilities were appreciated. He contemplates organizing a band in Napanee if sufficient inducements are held out. He was for three years leader of the 15th Battalion band in Belleville.

Masters Fred. and John Hughes, two of our promising youths, were among the successful candidates at the recent examinations for admission to the High School. They were both trained at the Dorland public school, Mr. George Paul, teacher.

A regular cock-fight took place here the other day for the delectation of the villagers. The respective birds were owned by Pat and John. The latter is disgusted and declares he will go out of the hen business.

While parties were engaged packing eggs at Mr. Wm. Paul's, for shipment, one of the eggs was discovered to have been transformed into a real live chicken. The bird was captured and is now in possession of Mr. Charles McNeil, and at last reports was doing as well as could be expected.

CROYDON.

On a recent visit to Croydon I was pleased to see that Mr. Atkinson Wild has so far recovered from his recent illness that he is able to return to business.

I was pained to learn of the drowning of Mr. Archibald Hamilton's son at Clarke Mills.

I received a cordial invitation to take tea with Mr. Edward Williams, and after refreshing the inner man his good lady entertained me with some choice selections on the organ.

I next took a bird's eye view of the 200 acre farm belonging to Mr. Martin Shire, in the 6th concession of Camden. Mr. S. has been absent from his farm for a number of years, during which time it deteriorated considerably, but hard and scientific work is fast bringing the place back to its former state of excellence.

And here, bargaining, gossiping, laughing, chattering, in all the housewifery world of Verona, leavened by a sprinkling of Austrian soldiers in white uniforms, with here and there a mendicant monk in woolen frock and sandals.

Giving smile for smile, greeting for greeting, La Giulietta meanwhile makes her modest purchases; lettuce and cress and sweet fennel for salad; lentils and a handful of tawny fungi for soup, a little pat of fresh butter wrapped in mulberry leaves, and the preferred morsel of stracchino for Uncle Stefano's supper. These, with a dish of polenta and perhaps a neat's foot, will furnish her larder for two or three days; and still, which ever way she turns, she meets some well-known face. Here old Dame Teresa's daughters, Lola and Lisa, beside themselves with joy, for Tomaso, the carpenter's assistant at the Teatro Nuovo, has just given them three gallery tickets for to-morrow evening's performance.

"Dear little Giulietta!" they say, with a patronizing air, "it is a pity we cannot take you also—you go out so seldom, and have so little pleasure. But, you see, the third ticket is for la madre; and she will not let us go anywhere without her, as if we were babies, and could not take care of each other. Ah, well, another time, perhaps, little Giulietta."

"Cara Giulietta, it was so good of you to bring my Tito that pot of soup last night," says the widow Carolina, another neighbor, who supports herself and her blind boy by straw-plaiting. "He hardly coughed at all after it, and has been better ever since."

"Aha, la piccola!" laughs a bonny-looking, well dressed dame, followed by a man who carries her purchases. "What is this pretty song that a little bird has been singing in my ear? Did he tell me that our Giulietta has found a Romeo?"

"Your little bird sings false, Signora Donda."

"Nay, you look not one scarlet pen of cochineal! But a lover—why, that's as it should be, my child when one is young and pretty!"

But the girl turns away briskly; and the Signora Donda, whose husband keeps a cabinet... in the Via Leoncino, shrugs her shoulders and laughs contemptuously.

"Che! che! che! one would think Tonio Moretti was good enough for her!"

"In truth, she might go further and fare worse, Signora Donda," [illegible]

the object of his inquiries meekly kissing the hand, and apparently removing the benediction, of a plump little white-haired priest in a rusty black gown and shovel hat at the farther end of the piazza.

"Who is he?" asks one the by-standers at Il Grillo's stall.

"Eh! eh! How should I know?—some salt water shop with more money than brains. Ten francs for that rubbishing old copy of Gazzetti's Pastor Fido, which is worth about five centesimi! I call that a good morning's work."

IS A FACT ATTESTED BY THE HIGHEST MEDICAL AUTHORITIES IN THE WORLD.

A careful observance of the laws of health, and the systematic and persistent use of Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda, will accomplish this result. The preparation has all the virtues of these two most valuable specifics, in a form perfectly palatable, and acceptable to the most delicate stomach, and we make the unqualified statement that Scott's Emulsion is being used with better results, and endorsed and prescribed by more physicians for Consumption—and the diseases leading to it, such as Chronic Coughs, Bronchitis, Scrofula, Anæmia, General Debility and the Wasting Disorders of children, than any other remedy known to medical science. The rapidity with which patients improve on this food medicine diet, is truly marvellous.

See what Physicians and the People say about it.

Messrs. SCOTT & BOWNE, 66 West Thirty-sixth St., New York, Sept. 8, 1876.
GENTS—I have frequently prescribed SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL with HYPOPHOSPHITES during the past year, and regard it as a valuable preparation in scrofulous and consumptive cases, palatable and efficacious. C. C. LOCKWOOD, M. D.

Messrs. SCOTT & BOWNE:—Gentlemen,—Within the last year I have used in my own family, and in my private practice prescribed very extensively SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL with HYPOPHOSPHITES and found it a most valuable preparation, especially in diseases of children. It is agreeable to the most delicate stomach; which renders it a very reliable agent as a nutritive remedy in consumption and scrofulous cases.
Oct. 12, 1879. Yours respectfully, A. H. SAXTON, M. D., Baltimore.

Messrs. SCOTT & BOWNE:—Gentlemen,—Within the last two months I have fairly tried SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL with HYPOPHOSPHITES, and I candidly declare that it is the finest preparation of the kind that has ever been brought to my notice; in affections of the lungs and other wasting diseases, we can consider it our most valuable agent, in a perfect, elegant and agreeable form.
Dec. 10, 1878. Very truly J. SIMONAUD, M. D., New Orleans, La.

Messrs. SCOTT & BOWNE:—Gentlemen,—In September 1877, my health began to fail and my physician pronounced it spinal trouble; under his care I got some relief from pain, but my general health did not improve, and early in the winter, I began to raise blood and rapidly grow worse. In May last I was taken with a violent bleeding which brought me to my bed and my life was despaired of for many weeks; violent symptoms appeared, night and morning coughs, night sweats, short breath, and a return of the spinal trouble. My physician stopped the bleeding and then ordered Cod Liver Oil and Lime; and I used various preparations, but they did me no good. I lost all hope of life, and was an object of pity to all my friends. Last September I purchased a bottle of your EMULSION and before it was all taken I was better. I then bought a dozen bottles and have taken with the following results: Cough subsiding, night sweats stopped, appetite restored, pains in side disappeared, strong breathing, and my weight increased from 118 to 140 pounds in sixteen weeks. I have taken no other medicine since commencing with your EMULSION and shall continue its use until I am perfectly well. I frequently meet some friend on the street who asks, what cured you, and I answer, SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL, &c. I have a friend who has been [illegible] or so months and he is getting better. I gave him a bottle, and he bought two more, then got a dozen and says it is food and medicine for him. He was given up [illegible] but he is improving now wonderfully. My recovery is exciting the surprise of many people, and I shall do all I can to make known your valuable medicine.
Jan. 29, 1879. Very truly yours, H. F. SLOCUM, Lowell, Mass.

Messrs. SCOTT & BOWNE: Lynn, Randolph Co., Ind. July 2, 1879.
About the 25th of last [illegible] I got a bottle of your EMULSION and at that time I was so prostrated that no one who saw me thought I could live but a few days at most. I could retain nothing on my stomach and was literally starving. I commenced the use of the EMULSION in small doses, it was the first thing that would stay on my stomach; I continued its use, gradually increasing the dose, and from that time I commenced mending, and now am able to ride and walk and am gaining flesh and strength rapidly. I have advised other parties to try it, and some two or three have already tried it. I am sure I shall entirely recover. I am gratefully yours,
